Rayonier Exhibit Opens at Carnegie

A Walk in the Woods: 80 Years of Rayonier

Dan Varland
Wildlife Biologist

Ian Thompson
Timber Harvest Supv.

Rayonier's photo exhibit, now open in the downstairs gallery at the Museum at the Carnegie in Port Angeles, is an informative and interesting look into the timber industry on the Olympic Peninsula.

The Historical Society invites members and the public to two evening lectures, one titled Rayonier's Wildlife and Forestry on Industrial Forestland in Western Washington; and Eighty Years of Rayonier, a history of Rayonier focusing on timberland acquisitions in Washington and its business going forward.

The first lecture, presented April 10, by Justin Knobel, covered Rayonier's silviculture, the science of growing trees from planting to harvest.

The two remaining lectures will be held in the lower gallery at the Museum at the Carnegie, Second and Lincoln Streets in Port Angeles.

See photos of the exhibit on pages 4 and 5

"Flower Power of Poppies" is this year's Raffle Fundraiser

Dona Cloud's beautiful bright orange and yellow poppies, painted on silk, will be raffled at the Historical Society's annual meeting on June 1. The stunning creation measures 17 x 21-inches and is displayed in an attractive brown frame.

Tickets cost $2 each and can be purchased from CCHS members, the Museum at the Carnegie or the administration office behind Lincoln School.

For more information call 360-452-2662.

Flower Power of Poppies

Rayonier Programs

May 15, 7:00 p.m.

Wildlife and Forestry on Industrial Forestland in Western Washington

Dan Varland will describe large landowner approaches to forestry and the Washington forest practice rules that guide these approaches. He will also talk on the ways Rayonier provides habitat for the northern spotted owl, marbled murrelet, bald eagle and other wildlife.

June 12, 7:00 p.m.

Eighty Years of Rayonier

Ian Thompson, Timber Harvest Supervisor for Rayonier Northwest Forest Resources, Grays Harbor operations will give a history of Rayonier.

A Word from Kathy

It is always exciting to have a new exhibit installed at the Museum at the Carnegie. From now through August 23, we invite you to view "A Walk in the Woods: 80 Years of Rayonier." This photo exhibit highlights early logging as well as silviculture practices and wildlife habitat. A schedule of special program events has been mailed to our local membership.

The Historical Society has filled several exhibit cases with memorabilia from the Port Angeles Rayonier mill. We also have a favor to ask of you. Several photos of mill employees are on display, and we need help in identifying those folks. So please take a look and see if you can identify any of them for us.

Two more floors were poured in Lincoln School this winter, and another widened doorway and new ramp will greet our customers at this year's garage sales. And yes!! We are now accepting donations for the sale. Tuesday and Thursday are the preferred days right now, but we'll let you know when our collection days and times expand. If you have any questions, please call 452-2662 or send a message to artifact@olympen.com.

It's time for our annual raffle as well. This year's silk painting was donated by our research librarian Dona Cloud. You should have received tickets in the mail, and we look forward to your support of this fund raiser.

Thank you!!

CCHS is Celebrating 60 Years

It's a year of celebration for the Clallam County Historical Society. It has been 60 years since a group of county citizens joined together to form what has turned into the organization we have today.

They surely would be amazed to see what they started in December of 1948.

The Museum at the Carnegie, the present showpiece of the Society, would dazzle them, as would the progress made at Lincoln School, future home of the Clallam County Museum.

A celebration of the 60th for all volunteers and Heritage Awards winners took place on April 26. A social get together at Olympic National Park headquarters is scheduled for July, and a reception for authors will be held in October. More information will be provided when arrangements are completed.

In the meantime, celebrate with us by visiting the Museum at the Carnegie and bring along a friend. It is a great place to spend an afternoon.

President's News and Views

A big thank you to the CCHS directors, committees and volunteers for initiating a wide range of activities. It has been gratifying to see what can be accomplished by everyone working together. Kathy Monds, executive director, organizes and works with our talented volunteers at the Lincoln School site and the Museum at the Carnegie. In addition, she has spoken before several organizations in Port Angeles, Forks and Sequim.

The following is an overview of some recent board and committee activities.

CCHS has nearly completed a self-study grant from the American Association of Museums. When completed, a representative from the organization will meet with our board and suggest how we can best meet the responsibilities of a nonprofit governing board and fulfill the organization's mission and purposes.

Committee action has been superb. The Public Relations committee, chaired by Alice Donnelly, has done an excellent job in getting our message to members and the public.

The Technology committee, chaired by Betsy Bauman, researched, located and purchased equipment and software to upgrade our computer system. This enables volunteers to enter information to build a database for our collection. This change will also be useful to volunteers in other areas of the Historical Society.

The Finance Committee, Karen Crouse, Eleanor Tschimperle and Jon Kirchaum, along with the board, decided to purchase software to enhance the present accounting system. This will provide a broader financial accountability and reporting base. They are preparing a presentation that will be part of the orientation program for new and existing board members.

The Education Committee, chaired by Lee Porterfield, is initiating a new elementary school program designed by committee member, Irene Wyman. The interactive program will involve first through third grade students who visit the Museum at the Carnegie.

An adhoc committee working under the Building Committee, chaired by Jerry Hendricks, submitted an Appropriation Request to Sen. Maria Cantwell's office. It includes use of solar panels and other energy conservation measures for the Lincoln School Project.

Jerry Hendricks and Kathy Monds are preparing an application to the Heritage Capital Funds Program to fund the next phase of renovating the Lincoln School site. After attending a workshop in Seattle, both are optimistic for a positive outcome.

Finally, the Museum Assessment Committee has asked each board member to submit their ideas relative to CCHS needs. Members are also invited to submit ideas.

During an upcoming retreat, these ideas will be discussed with a facilitator who will direct board members toward developing a realistic plan for the operation and development of the Clallam County Historical Society.

Why we need your e-mail addresses

It's no secret that we hold fundraisers and watch our spending at the Historical Society.

Thanks to technology, we have another way to save — posting the Newsletter on our web site. Please take a look at:

www.clallamhistoricalsociety.com

This current issue is available on the web site as is Winter 2007-2008.

Back issues are archived on the web site and can be easily accessed.

Not only will this save with printing and postage costs, it enables us to direct some of these saved dollars toward other necessary printing projects, such as updating brochures.

As with your mailing address, the Historical Society will never share your e-mail address with any business or other organization.

Thank you for your help in establishing a membership e-mail database, and making an important contribution to the Society. Please send your address to:

New Computers Installed

By Betsy Bauman, Technology Committee Chair

Saturday, February 23, brought change into the Artifact Storage Building. The "installation crew" arrived at the appointed hour of 10 a.m.

Douglas Cheatham, Alice Donnelly's grandson, a very bright young man who loves working on computers, came all the way from Blackfoot, Idaho to help, while Betsy Bauman recruited long-time friend Bob Fisher, who has an extensive background in steering novices like us in the right direction. Rowann Osborne, our newest board member, revealed that she has a talent for troubleshooting computer problems and she was on hand to help the "boys" get everything put together.

Alice Donnelly and Betsy Bauman made themselves useful by providing coffee, soft drinks, and a big delicious two-foot sandwich from Drakes for lunch. Alice and Betsy were not asked for technical advice, which was a very good thing.

A few glitches arose during the following days but were soon fixed. Douglas went home to Blackfoot, Bob went back to his mountain aerie just off Deer Park Road, and Rowann to her acres in Joyce. She continues as a troubleshooter. We are very grateful to all three for getting us started on our way to digitization of our collections.

Douglas Cheatham, seated, and Bob Fisher, computer techs, along with Rowann Osborne, board member and computer troubleshooter, installed and networked the new system.
